Adult Education with

Rabbi Rami Shapiro November 9th & 16th at 7:00 PM

Walk Humbly with Your God: Exploring the Variety of Jewish Theologies

Jews are rarely of one mind on anything
--Two Jews, Three Opinions-- and this is no less true when it comes to our thinking about God.

In this two-seminar series, Rabbi Rami will introduce us to the wide range of Jewish theologies from supernaturalism to naturalism & from monotheism to atheism.

Bring lots of questions!

Dates to be announced!

Seek My Face: Jewish Meditation Practices for Meeting God & Being Godly

Like almost all religions, Judaism has its public and private faces. The public face focuses on mitzvot and communal worship. The private face focuses on your personal encounter with the Divine. In this two-seminar series, Rabbi Rami will introduce us to several Jewish meditation practices--chanting the 13 Attributes of God, reciting the Sh'ma, and isolating oneself with God-- and help us design our own Jewish practice for God-encounter.

A Special Weekend with

Rabbi Stephen Fuchs

December 2nd & 3rd

Rabbi Stephen Fuchs, former Temple rabbi and current President of World Union For Progressive Judaism, will join us the first weekend in December. He will be our guest speaker during our Friday evening Shabbat service and will join us again on Saturday morning to teach our Chevrah Torah class, on Saturday morning.

His Shabbat sermon will be based on a quotation from the weekly Torah portion:

“You shall spread out to the west, the east, the north and the south!”

(Genesis 28:14).

We hope you will plan to join us.
